

More businesses are making charitable activities part of their marketing plans.

The Utah Foster Care Foundation is a nationally recognized, private, non-profit organization. The Partners in Parenting program is a popular choice among Utah businesses looking for a worthy, high profile charity to support.

When your business becomes a Partner in Parenting, you will receive:

- A tax deduction for all donations made to the Utah Foster Care Foundation
- A listing in our monthly newsletter, The Foster Roster, with a statewide circulation of 2,500
- A highlighted article in The Foster Roster
- A Partner in Parenting certificate
- Recognition among local foster/adoptive family support groups and possible local media recognition

More importantly, you'll know the satisfaction of strengthening families and helping children in your community.

How the Partners in Parenting program works.

Partners in Parenting was designed to give local businesses a way to improve the lives of children in foster care and the families that care for them. To become a Partner in Parenting, businesses must offer discounted products, services, gift certificates or other specials to foster families in their community. In addition to the Partners in Parenting program, there are also many other ways your business can help foster parents and children.

- Collect new items for children entering or exiting foster care, such as coats, clothing, holiday gifts, baby supplies, and toys
- Make a cash contribution to our Wishing Well Fund, which goes directly to children in foster care
- Sponsor events to recognize and appreciate foster and adoptive families in your area
- Help with extra-curricular activities, such as piano lessons, camp, karate, etc.
- Place posters or brochures in your business that increase awareness of the need for foster families
- Include informational inserts in your employee's paycheck envelopes
- Allow us to hold a brief presentation for your employees or an information booth at a company sponsored event

Partners in Parenting is just one way the Utah Foster Care Foundation fulfills its mission, "To serve Utah's children by finding, educating and nurturing families to meet the needs of children in foster care."

How to become a Partner in Parenting.

Take the first step toward a deeply rewarding partnership. Call the Utah Foster Care Foundation office in your area for more information or visit utahfostercare.org.

Make a difference,
become a Partner in Parenting.

You don't have to be a foster parent to help children in foster care.

Your business has the power to help some of the most vulnerable children in Utah—the nearly 2,000 children currently in foster care.

Through the Partners in Parenting program, your business can help these children by providing needed discounts, goods and services to foster and adoptive families.

The first step is to contact the Utah Foster Care Foundation and request a Partners in Parenting application.
